2021-2022

“Story to Hope”

To protect ourselves from the unseen virus, we try to continue life with bated breath. As way of life changed, we had an opportunity to reconsider what we had taken for granted about ourselves, our families, and our homes.

More than ever, "a sense of security" and "warmth" have become important for home spaces. As we spend more time shut inside a small space, we get an urge to go outside to feel nature. We will be gradually starting to go back to daily life and spend more time outside. When the time comes, what we want is a "sense of cleanliness"; color designs with a refreshing "clean feel" will be welcomed.

When you breathe in crystal clear air, being wrapped in warmth of the sun, wouldn't it give you the power to take a step forward? People will surely be seeking "thrills" and be ready full of "energy" to create a new, comfortable life.

“Story to Hope” - It is a story that leads us to a hopeful future expressed by the combination of materials and the 2021-2022 trend colors.

Like turning pages of a picture book, please enjoy our story of trend colors.

Taking in Fresh Crisp Air – Colors of Clean & Clear Impression

Keyword: Cleanliness / Pure / Air / Water / Forest bath / Life / Photosynthesis

After spending every day feeling like you're holding your breath, you begin to feel like you want to fill every corner of your body with clean air, and you want to immerse yourself in clear blue water. With increased awareness of hygiene, refreshing colors with a sense of cleanliness will be needed. This color scheme has a somewhat mystical expression of deep in the forest where spirits reside, which reminds you of clean oxygen that was just created by photosynthesis.

Care of Preserved Flowers

Cautions and Proper Use:

- Do not pour water
- Do not fire. It is flammable.
- Avoid high-degree humidity, direct sunlight, and/or extremely dry conditions. It will cause the color liquid leaking, the color fading, and/or the petal damages. Under the high-degree humid condition, the petals get semitransparent. However, it would be back in the normal when the degree of humid is back in low. The 30% through 80% is the good level of humidity for the preserved products.
- Avoid the direct touch to the wall, fabrics (such as curtain), outfits and others as color may be transmitted.
- In the case the color transmits, please check the material nature, then put neutral detergent into the stain and wash by tapping.
- Avoid the preserved products touched to the oil painting materials, varnish, and plastics. The flowers would be attached to it and/or they cause the stain on it.
- The insects and the other materials may be contained depending on the storage conditions and environment since it is all from pure natural flowers.
No insect killer and mold controller added. Please be aware of the storage conditions to maintain the preserved products.
- The preserved products are not edible. Avoid child to put them into the mouth.

Notes for the Products:

- There would be the deviation on the size, color and condition since it is pure natural flowers.
- The thin papers and buffer materials are for the protection of the flowers inside box. It is not a problem if the nature of paper may slightly be different based on the lot, and if the color of flowers transmits to the papers inside the box.
- The price, product specification, and the other conditions may change without prior notice.
- The number of boxes per carton may change without prior notice.
- Please be aware that the metal products may be changing its color and caused rust.

About Florever

Florever

Colombia is where Florever is from, the second largest flower exporting country in the world. Thanks to the unique geography and natural environment by the Andes, Colombia nurtures abundant beautiful flowers making it an ideal location for Florever to source and preserve our flowers. In order to ensure a stable supply and larger selection of flowers, Florever products are now produced in multiple locations around the world.

Preserved Flowers

Preserved flowers are natural products that have undergone a preservation process of a revolutionary technology to take out the water from fresh flowers and replace with preserving solution. This enables preserved flowers to maintain their beautiful fresh appearance for months or even years with no need to water or sunlight. With each petal being soft and healthy, it is almost difficult to distinguish Florever preserved flowers from fresh flowers. They are ideal for gifts, wedding bouquets, interior decoration and even accessories.

Variety

Florever offers a wide variety of flowers, sizes and colors. Our product range includes roses, carnations, gardenias, chrysanthemums, orchids, hydrangeas, calla lilies and foliage. With more than 40 colors, 9 rose sizes and 700 product references, designers can create arrangements to fit all tastes and budgets.

Safety & Environment

Florever is committed to sustainable development and we take eco-friendly production practices at the farm and factory. Usage of agrichemicals is minimized, plant residue is used to produce compost (natural fertilizer), and the used water is purified before it returns to the environment. Further, Florever uses harmless solutions and colorants that are also commonly used in food. We believe that our eco-friendly production will continue to maintain healthy and fertile soil – the source of good quality flowers.

Social Responsibility

In 2006, the Florever House was established in Bogota, the capital of Colombia, as an interactive center for orphans. The facility offers educational programs and opportunities to learn important skills with computer classes and bakery lessons. Thanks to the support of flower designers, Florever organizes various charity events to raise funds to update equipment and facilities for the house.

How Preserved Flowers are Made

1. Cultivation & Harvesting

Many of the fresh flowers are carefully grown on special farms around the factory dedicated for the preserved flowers of Florever. Just by the Andes, with its unique geography and natural environment like an everlasting year-round spring and the day-night temperature differences, it is a perfect place to grow beautiful healthy flowers. To ensure the best quality, flowers are selected carefully and cut daily at the best timing on our farms.

2. Sorting & Processing

Before starting the preservation process, we go through a long checklist for flowers such as size, freshness, shape and so on, and select only the fresh flowers that meet the standard. We use the same solutions and colorants as those used in food, medical and textile manufacturing for keeping our health and environment in mind.

3. Quality Control & Packing

After the preservation process, the flowers are inspected one by one again to see if they meet the quality requirements, and verify that the size is within the standard using a ruler.

The first sorting is performed for fresh flowers, but we conduct several sorting / inspections for each step of manufacturing process for certain criteria such as color and size. Only the flowers that passed all the inspections are finally put into Florever boxes.

4. Shipment

Once preparations are completed, our products are loaded onto trucks and transported to the port. They are loaded onto ships at a port in Colombia and depart for Japan to sail about 14,300km. After arriving in Japan, the products are stored temporarily in our warehouse in Miyagi prefecture and shipped to the customers.
